

Day 3: Environmental Blizzard Bag – internet research-

Alternative Energy in the News

Information about our environment is always changing. Use one of the following environmental news sources to pick a news article about alternative energy that is less than one year old.

- Environmental News Network
- Grist - Environmental News, Commentary and Advice
- MSNBC Environmental News
- Daily Environmental News from National Geographic
- NPR: Environment
- Science & Environmental News from NY Times
- Science Daily: Environmental Issues

Once you have selected and read your article, complete the questions below using complete sentences by either typing it out or writing legible on another paper.

Article Title:

Article Date:

Publisher:

Web Address:

1. What is the main topic of the article? Is it a new discovery, a controversy, a new product, or something else related to the environment?
2. Give a brief but complete summary of the article (3-5 sentences). In other words, what is the main story told in this article?
3. Name two main people, groups or companies mentioned in this article. How are they involved?
4. What are two ways that the topic of this article is related to alternative energy that we've learned about the past few weeks? Are there similar people, concepts or problems?
5. What is your point of view on the subject of this article? What could happen because of this in the future?